NANNY SERVICE

As part of our ongoing commitment to provide the highest level of care, we always consider the three people involved: PARENT, CHILD and CARER.

The Parent:

Parents are looking for the best quality childcare available for their children. We recognise it's not just providing a carer with the right qualifications or experience. It is about the correct person for the position – one that will suit the parents' requirements for their children at the time.

The Child:

The child's welfare must be considered at all times, along with their daily routines, continuing growth and development programs. Children need a happy and congenial environment with a well balanced diet – not one where they are propped in front of a television or video with a drink bottle! Our Nanny's encourage lots of fun interactive play, reading and music plus visits to the park where permitted by parents.

The Carer:

Although they are there primarily to care for the children (as this is their chosen career), they are also looking for a rewarding and fulfilling career with good working conditions and remuneration – along with appreciation for the care they provide for others people's children. They not only care for the children, but in fact do a balancing act between the child and the parent, keeping everything on a level playing field. It is also important to maintain a professional and caring relationship between all parties so they can approach and discuss issues with parents as they arise.
